Structural Incentives are built on two main elements: Structure and the Membership Loyalty Program. This helps new builders focus on structure from the beginning, which sets them up for rank advancements in the future.

Retention is an important part of A Leisure Life's compensation plan: it's what helps you build a significant residual income and that's the focus of the Membership Loyalty Program (MLP). When you teach the importance of the MLP and develop the structure necessary to qualify for the structural incentive bonuses, then you will have established the core principles of your business.

*This structure bonus is paid monthly in place of your regular commission payment. As long as all qualifications are met, this bonus may be earned each month.
